Each residency was very successful with many artworks produced.

Kevin's drawings, paintings, sculptures and large scale murals are represented in public, corporate and private collections throughout Canada and many other countries of the world. Kevin has large scale outdoor public sculptures on display in Saskatoon, Watrous and North Battleford.

Kevin works as a multi media artist and is comfortable in drawing, painting and sculpture mediums. He has painted the Saskatchewan landscape for many years and also has completed many portraits in various painting and sculpture mediums. In sculpture Kevin chooses the human figure as his main area of interest. His sculptures, done directly from the model, respond to the human spirit. Each individual person has their own story and projects a unique kind of energy. It is to this energy that the artist responds.
